This sums it up, if you want to start thinkin'. Excellent challenges from @bibliolaura #nercomp16

INFORMATION SOCIAL JUSTICE

Information is created within existing power structures, and those power structures can impact the production and dissemination of information as well as distort, suppress, or misrepresent information. To understand and use information most effectively, users must be able to examine and interrogate the power structures that impact that information, and analyze the ways that information can be used to both to inform and misinform.
