

Event invitation:
“Opening Access to Health Information for Patients and Providers”

You are cordially invited to join us for a two-hour panel discussion on “Opening Access to Health Information for Patients and Providers”, on Tuesday October 19, 2010, 4:30-6:30pm, Kotzen room (1st floor library building, Simmons College).

This panel uses the 2nd International Open Access Week celebrations (October 18-24, 2010) as an opportunity to discuss and explore how health information can open up for patients and providers.

Panel Participants:

Dr. Fabienne Bourgeois (Children’s Hospital Boston), “Patient Portals and Private, Personally Controlled Health Records for Pediatric and Adolescent Patients”.

Anne Marie Biernacki (Chief Technology Officer and Co-Founder of AdhereTX Corp.), “Health 2.0 Challenge: Data Interoperability across Multiple Providers”.

Sarah Stowell (RN, MS), “Comparing college students’ exposure and perception of online personal health records: Google Health versus Microsoft HealthVault”

Carla Azersky, (RNC-My Healthy Vet Coordinator, Boston, MA), “My Healthy Vet Portal”

The Graduate School of Library and Information Science (GSLIS), the School of Health Sciences (SHS), the School of Management (SOM) and the program in Computer Science and Informatics (CAS), Simmons College co-sponsor this event in celebration of the 2nd International Open Access Week (October 18-24, 2010).

* Refreshments will be served***